A SECOND CITY HALL.

Proposed to Put One in the Ment Market.

The women of the Industrial School which has been meeting in Tomlinson Hall have interested themselves in a movement to obtain another place of meeting. Information was received at the Mayor's office yesterday afternoon to the effect that the city will be asked or consulted regarding fitting up a second floor of the meat market building for such a purpose. An architect was consulted yesterday afternoon, and the opinion given that a floor can be placed in the East market building, providing a suitable hall. Mrs. Frank Blanchard is interested in the project, but Mayor Taggart was not in his office at the time she offered the suggestion. The Industrial School has Tomlinson Hall for Saturday afternoons, but generally something arises to interfere with the work. Yesterday afternoon preparations were being made for the food exhibit. There is no other hall in the city large enough for the school. The meat market building is well constructed and the roof is high. There is room within for a second floor, and the building will permit of the improvement. Mrs. Blanchard believes she can raise the money for the improvement, if the city will aid and oversee the work. It is suggested that the hall might be used for other purposes, for frequently a hall is wanted, but not so large a one as Tomilnson.

EIGHTEEN VAGRANCY CASES.

Louis Simons Had a New Game for Exciting Sympathy.

Eighteen cases of vagrancy were disposed of in Police Court yesterday morning. The offenders represented about every grade of unfortunate humanity. The last one to come into the prisoners' dock was Louis Simons, who said he came from Port Huron, Mich.

"Great Scott, it seems to me that every 'vag' in the country is coming to Indianapolis," quoth the court as Simons took his seat. The prisoner related a sorry story of how he had to leave home on account of the persecution of an older brother. He 19 pairs French Tapestry Portieres was having a mighty struggle to exist, he sald, and was compelled to lay his hands to all kinds of hard work. The last he did was at North Vernon, where a farmer gave him a job of husking corn. Simons was one of the meekest and shrewdest of his class. Everybody about the court felt sorry for 23 pairs Armure Tapestry Portieres him and said he ought to be allowed to go. The court felt inclined to be lenient until detective John Kaehn told what he knew

The "cut" in price is deep, deep.

See the goods once and you'll agree with us.

"Your Honor," said the detective, "this several districts will be here. The headman has got a new game and he knows quarters will be at the Denison House, where rooms have been engaged already avenue last night with a crowd of men and by a great many people. The recent sweepboys around him. He had represented that he lost a five-dollar gold piece and the crowd was helping him find it. Of course, he had represented that ing Republican successes all over the country have added much enthusiasm to the alcrewd was helping him find it. Of course, ready confident workers. These elections he hadn't lost anything, but when I came up he was about ready to begin taking up a collection. He tells the people he is bad off and the money he has just lost is all he had. Out of sympathy they help him.

That's his game, you know."

Judge Cox asked the prisoner to explain his curious conduct, but Simons said it wouldn't be any use to make a defense. "We've got some good, hard stone out at the workhouse," said the court, turning to Simons, "and we'll let you go out there for about twenty days." Simons went at noon with the crowd.

ALLEGED ARSONISTS RELEASED. Insurance Company Finds It Made a Mistake.

In the Criminal Court, yesterday, the case against Robert Williams and James Sanderson, charged with arson, was nollied. Williams was to have been tried Friday, but the case was postponed on account of illness of a prosecuting witness. Williams is the proprietor of a grocery at Bellefontaine and Seventh streets. Sanderson is his father-in-law. Some time ago a fire broke out in the grocery, and while working in the cellar of the store the firemen found evidences of incendiarism. The insurance company which had risks on the concern heard of the discovery and went before the grand jury. The result of the investigation was the arrest of Williams and Sanderson on the charge of arson. Within the last two days the agents of the insurance company have made some futher investigations and have made some futher investigations, and yesterday they came into court and asked that the charges be dismissed. The prosecution was to have been made on the the-ory that if Williams fired the store he had ory that if Williams fired the store he had in mind the insurance money. Later developments showed that the stock was worth much more than it was insured for, and the insurance people do not believe that this could have been the motive for the act. They believe that Williams and Sanderson

John Barmfuhrer is named as a party defendant to the suit. At a recent "sitting" in the resort of the defendants Ross claims that he lost $375. He says he has demanded that the money be returned, but the plaintiffs refuse to give up any part of the sum.

Prize-Fighter Henderson Held. William Henderson, who is charged by the Union News Company with failure to turn in the proceeds of goods sold, was held to the grand jury by Police Judge Cox yesterday. Henderson admits that he received the money, but says he intended to report to the company. He is a prize fighter well known among the local admirers of the "squared circle."

Abutting Property Owners Out. The suit of Minnie Dillon against the city of Indianapolis for injuries received at the Meridian-street bridge over the State ditch. was adjourned at noon yesterday until Monday. The city is now the only party to the action, the paragraph of the complaint relating to the abutting property owners having been stricken out.

Judge Harvey, of Room 2, Superior Court, resterday adopted a rule in divorce cases which will hereafter require the defendant to be present when the decree is granted if he or she can be found within the jurisdiction of the court. A fine will be assessed for a violation of the rule.

A TRIO FROM PORTLAND.

One a Colored Boy, Charged with Stealing a Wheel.

Daniel Spades, claiming to be from Cumberland, was sheltered at the station house

Plainfield for carrying a pistol, and they left home to avoid the Reform School. Yesterday the colored boy, Frank Mills, was arrested for stealing a bicycle. He acounted for having it in his possession very ingeniously. According to his story, when he and the other boys left Portland he took his bicycle with him, and when they got aboard a box car the bicycle was taken in. When they got off the train here he rode around the town until he reached a bridge, where he left the wheel for a few moments. When he returned his wheel was missing and another left in its place. By a little skillful questioning Mrs. Buchanan learned from the Spades boy that they brought no bicycle to this city. He did not know his companion was in custody for stealing a wheel, and was positive in his declarations. The Mills boy will be held until his case is considered by the grand jury.

Now Permanently Located in Indianapolis at the Propylacum. The first of these institutions was established in May, 1878. Its unprecedented success led to the opening of branches in a number of American and European cities, where the superiority of the Berlitz method has been fully recognized. "The Berlitz Method is the systematized form of learning a foreign language in a foreign learning in a foreign language in a foreign language." a foreign language in a foreign country by its actual use." (Meyer's German Encyclopedia.) In the Berlitz Method the pupil is acquainted with the foreign tongue, not by translation, which is abandoned altogether, but by conversational exercises, in the new language, and in the advanced lessons a practical course of literature is combined of the foreign language as are equal or similar to the pupil's own tongue. It teaches from the start the various inflec-tions, forms of words and modes of constructing sentences, not only systematically, but, as we believe, also in a novel and attractive way. Only teachers of superior education and entirely pure pronunciation are engaged, and each teacher instructs only in his mother tongue.

THAT MYSTERIOUS ABODE. Its Charm to Both Big and Little

People. The dream of the mysterious abode of "Old Santa," which has always added that peculiar charm to the on-coming of the Christmas tide, is not only a musing of the child heart and fancy, but big people, likewise, feel an interest in the festive time, which keeps the gray, at least in thought, from creeping into their aburn locks. It is no wonder that St. Nich. is ever a welcome guest when one peeps into the realm of his workshop as seen at Paul H. Krauss's haberdashery, 44 and 46 East Washington street. There the newest products, embracing goods for ladies as well as gentle-men, are seen in profusion, and the ideal gift in silk umbrellas with rare and costly sticks and heads, delicate handkerchiefs, smoking jackets, rain coats, Russian tippets, dress suit cases, mufflers, walking sticks, newest shade gloves, dress shirts, neckwear, ladies' garters, the noted Dr. Jaeger sanitary wool underwear, the Ypsilanti underwear, and whatever else the holiday buyer may be seeking is found in the stock. The many early buyers are elated with the keen cut novelty and the rare beauty of the goods obtainable.

Conservative and Rapid Growth of Associations. While a great many persons have suffered by the decline of values and overesti-mated securities in the last two years, the people in general have reaped many benefits. The average man wants his money placed where it will be bringing interest, and where he can get it after a few months on demand. The first thing, of course, he looks to is the security. The condition of building and loan associations during the last two years has taught the average man where to go to accomplish

The laws of the State of Indiana are so formed that all of the funds of building and loan associations must be loaned upon real estate security, or upon stock loans, which have credits for more than the loan

Knowing this fact, and the fact that the interest received from building and loan associations, where carefully managed, is arger than in any other investment, shareolders have hastened to take shares in the various associations. The Mechanics' Mutual Savings and Loan Association began in the midst of the panic, and its first shares were written when people were squaring their accounts with other industries. It is seventeen months old and has loaned out nearly $200,on approved real estate loans. All loans are appraised by sworn statements of disinterested shareholders; then by written statements of members of the board of directors; then by members of the executive

The officers and executive board of the association are men of business ability, who have had long experience in handling the affairs of others. The business of the association is carefully audited by the supervisor of the building and loan associations of this State (the Auditor of the State), who is assisted by members of the board. In this way the association is benefited by any new information obtained by the Auditor from the workings of other associations in this State, he being eminently qualified by reason of his auditing of other associations throughout the State of Indiana.

The by-laws contain many features which other associations do not. For instance, no fines are charged in case of sickness, and only the first month's dues for solici-tor's fund, which is 40 and 80 cents. Dues are 80 cents and 40 cents on each share, respectively, depending on the num-ber of years the shareholder desires his certificate to run. The estimated time to mature the 80-cent class of stocks is seven-0000 ty-two months. Dividends are declared every six months. Paid-up stock is written on which 8 per cent, per annum is paid in cash every six months.

Prepaid stock is sold on which the share-holder receives a cash dividend, and the remaining earnings are applied to mature As a result by the careful management of ciation is growing rapidly, selling between month. The officers are: Robert N. Lamb, president; William Garstang, vice president; William H. Dye, secretary; Andrew Hagen, treasurer.
